

SCD-167

On-line instruction manual not available. Please see information below for more assistance on this device.

ASI product support is available to guide you and provide technical, troubleshooting and repair services should you have concerns or difficulties with your ASI product.

To reach ASI support by phone please call:

530-273-8299

ADEPT support: option 3

HemoFlow support: option 4

In the event that ASI support staff is unable to take your call immediately, you may leave a message on the support line message system. Please be sure to include your name, contact information, question and device serial number.

To reach ASI support by email:

service@applied-science.com. Please be sure to include your name, contact information, question, product type and, if applicable, your device serial number in the body of the email message.